

Managing Content Editor (Internship)

Our Mission

Our mission is to empower people to live rich, full lives. We see a world where rich lives are built from rich relationships based on shared experiences.

ForTwoPlease connects people with amazing date experiences they can share with people they care about. Have you ever asked "What should we do on date night?" and couldn't find a good answer? That's where we come in. We solve the problem of "date night" by making it easy to go on better dates.

Who Are We?

We are a young and energetic team - passionate about helping people go on great dates in the beautiful city of Vancouver. Our team is looking for positive, like-minded people to join us in this journey! Are you one of them?

We're looking for a Managing Content Editor who is passionate about sharing great stories, and above all, telling the truth. Our brand is positive, friendly and humorous - think Clooney as a concierge - and our editorial reflects that.

Is This For Me?

The Managing Content Editor is an important position, as you will be the outward voice of our company. You have the chance to help us shape who we are, and make meaning by helping people live full lives.

You should apply if you believe in "saying it as it is," instead of "every date is great." Your job is to discover the best that's out there, and be truthful.

Why You Should Apply!

If you have aspirations of being a Chief Editor, this is a great start! We believe in continual learning, and if you're game ready, you may find a permanent home here. Either way, we'll ensure you have an exciting and challenging 4 months, and finish with a strong editorial portfolio to show off! And of course, if you rise to the occasion, we'll go to bat for you and help you find your dream job, even if it's isn't with us.

Responsibilities

- Shaping the voice and brand of ForTwoPlease through Date Ideas and email campaigns
- Discovering and creating local date ideas, and publishing them on a weekly basis
- Researching local businesses to determine if they provide a "ForTwoPlease" worthy date
- Captivating an audience of 25-45 years through written content and ideas
- Establishing best practises for creating & publishing unique content
- Working directly with the CEO to ensure our Date Ideas reflect our brand and goals
- Embracing our most important value, Kaizen - a never ending state of improvement

Required Skills and Experience

- You are passionate about helping Vancouverites go on their next great date - we live our brand every day, and you will as well
- You know Vancouver and surrounding areas, and you're committed to uncovering hidden ideas
- You are able to manage multiple projects in a fast-paced environment
- You are flexible and able to change projects on short notice
- You are a quick learner with an eye for detail
- Guess what? You're creative too!
- You're able to take direction and you're not afraid to make mistakes - at ForTwoPlease we win, or we learn
- Above all, you have an "I Can" attitude

Bonus Assets

- Have you written, created or worked on a successful blog or newspaper? What about a social media campaign? Do you want to?
- Do you have experience collaborating with a team on content creation, particularly in a fast paced environment?
- Are you educated in journalism - formal or informal?

The First Step

To be considered for the Managing Content Editor, send your resume, writing samples and your top 3 favourite Date Ideas in Vancouver. Please also answer the following question: "What makes a great article or writing piece?"

Email: [jointheteam\[at\]ForTwoPlease.com](mailto:jointheteam[at]ForTwoPlease.com). All generic applications (i.e. copy and paste) will be deleted.

Good luck!

*This is an unpaid full-time internship; there is also an unpaid part-time internship. Remote work is available. The start dates are flexible, and the position is 3-4 months.